Tamariki must have somewhere safe to store their belongings

If they're staying with a whānau caregiver, or a non-kin caregiver, their home must have somewhere where tamariki can keep their belongings and access them easily.

The caregiver's ability to provide storage for belongings will have been considered in their assessment.

If for some reason belongings need to be stored temporarily at a site, rather than at home:
Sites should contact their Regional Property and Facilities Manager to discuss requirements for additional storage
